

WorkBook-5

Practice Exercise

1. Table headings are defined with the _____ tag.
2. Which tag is used to add a row in a table? _____
3. Which attribute is used to span a cell into multiple rows? Which attribute is used to span a cell into _____
4. Write the HTML to left-align the content inside a tablecell _____
5. Which tag is used to define a table caption? _____
6. Which HTML attribute is used along with td tag to merge two cells horizontally? _____
7. The _____ attribute adds space within each cell in a table.
8. The _____ tag is used to add a data to a table.
9. Which attribute is used to span a cell into multiple columns? _____
10. Which attribute is used to create a table border? _____

Exercises

- Complete the following exercises

Exercise-1

Q1: Create a company web site with a home page and links to Home,About US,Clients,Products and Contact.

Q2: Add content about each link.

Exercise-2

Q1: Create a html page about UML Behavioral Modles

Q2: Explain what is a Behavioral Model

Q3: Create a table with columns as Diagram Type, Details, Explanation as a link.

Q4: In the Explanation column add link to each diagram

Q5: In the Explanation link page add content with headings Use,Example
Diagram,Tools,Notes.

Exercise-3

Q1: Design your class room time table.

Additional Exercises

1. Create a table showing the population growth rate for countries around the world. Give the table Heading as “Population Growth Rate” and Rank,Country,Rate as columns
2. Create a do-list table.
3. Construct a pair of tables side by side within another table. Using the table attributes of cellspacing, cellpadding and border,and center it across the width of the page.